EXFOR 1/16/61
FBI/DC

1. Subject is presently employed [redacted]. He is well known to [redacted] the former having known him socially for a number of years and the latter having dealt with him on transportation problems since his appointment, fifteen months ago, to the position he now occupies [redacted].

2. Subject is also a long-time friend of UNMOVED, who brought him to our attention as a potential recruit and who has provided us with the biographical information contained in the attached personal record form No. 51-67.

3. From what I have been able to gather from UNMOVED, as well as from [redacted] subject appears to be the type of individual which might be ideally suited to fulfill certain valuable operational assignments such as "spotter" for other high-level potential agents, high-level contacts, cut-out, etc. All who know him agree that subject is capable of "doing anything and getting to know anyone" if he so chooses. Apparently subject, despite the "brass" which surrounds his perceptible personality, is a serious-minded, intelligent and patriotic individual who has had much experience along lines which could be of use to this organization, as well as an uncanny knack of being able to introduce and ingratiate himself into practically any milieu of interest to his work or wishes. A partial list of subject's fairly close friends, as reported by UNMOVED on Page 8-a of attachment, shows the variety of people subject knows and sees whenever they are in this area. Undoubtedly, subject himself could add a much longer list of names to those reported herein, particularly with respect to contacts in Europe.

4. I am assured by UNMOVED that subject, despite his ability to make and keep numerous and varied friendships, is far from being a "good time Charlie". He is, on the other hand, one of those characters whom everyone likes and trusts and who goes out of their way to see as often as occasion permits. UNMOVED assures me that subject is a particularly good friend

5. It is our thought that perhaps subject's unusual personality and in the cover-job he now occupies could be exploited to advantage by this Station and the organization as a whole. Subject has absolute freedom of movement outside [Redacted] (usually by TWA), enters into practically any milieu his assignments might require and is known to be an intelligent, hard-working and patriotic individual.

6. On a recent tour of inspection of [Redacted] circuit, [Redacted] assured subject he would endeavor to secure for him an additional allotment of funds to supplement his present expense account budget. Due to budgetary restrictions this has not been possible and subject is at present seeking another more remunerative position, since he claims that his present income of approximately $666.00 monthly (including expense account) is insufficient to permit him to live [Redacted] and maintain the contacts and activity required by his job. According to UNMOVED, subject is at present endeavoring to secure from his good friend [Redacted] the sales agency [Redacted]. Meanwhile, however, subject is not contemplating resigning his position [Redacted] until he has a firm and more remunerative position. UNMOVED states that subject plans to remain [Redacted] at least until the end of the year, by which time he may have secured something better. Subject has also had talks with [Redacted] (on his recent trip to [Redacted] concerning the possibility of handling the [Redacted] agency here. Nothing has come of this possibility to date, but subject appears to be hopeful.

7. UNMOVED is of the opinion that subject would be most receptive to a proposition of doing intelligence work and furthermore believes that if subject could supplement his present income by an additional $200 or $300 per month, he would be willing to remain with TWA, which he likes and is only considering leaving due to his present low total income, much of which is spent in connection with activities required by his position.

8. UNMOVED has, of course, never even hinted to subject anything about his own undercover activities and is sure subject does not suspect that the former is doing anything but his cover work in France. UNMOVED, when questioned as to his opinion concerning subject's potential value as a covert agent, as well as his recruitability, has pointed out very strongly that subject, due to the very nature of his personality, must be given a good deal of operational guidance and be closely controlled. Questioned as to whether some other individual should endeavor to recruit subject, UNMOVED was of the opinion that, should the organization desire to do so, he would be best fitted to exploit subject's potential, since he has known him for a good many years and as a close friend, knows his strong and weak points and could, in general, handle subject to better advantage than another individual who might have only occasional contact with him.

COPIE

9. We request that consideration be given to the advisability of endeavoring to recruit subject and, in the event of a favorable decision, that provisional operational clearance be given in order that subject may be approached on the subject of engaging in intelligence work. With regard to whom should actually recruit subject, we suggest that HARE might safely make the first approach and, if subject accepts and final security is obtained, he might eventually be turned over to UNSWED for exploitation.

10. We would appreciate your reactions to the desirability of recruiting subject, as well as your thoughts as to how best exploit his obvious potential.

11. If subject's recruitability is approved in principle and he is given provisional security clearance, this Station would then prepare a field project outline, to be submitted to you for approval.

SUBJECT: GENERAL: [redacted]

SPECIFIC: [redacted] 4214

1. We regret that circumstances beyond our control prompted us to dispatch [redacted] 4214 on the off chance that Subject might be of sufficient interest to you as a potential candidate for recruitment, thus bringing to a head a question which normally would have followed its course through the mill. In this case, however, due to Subject's alleged resignation [redacted] we felt that a cable such as the one we dispatched was justified, due to the fact that unless some quick action is taken, Subject will definitely leave his present job [redacted] and seek employment elsewhere.

2. On 10 December, Subject had luncheon with HARE and unloaded all his financial troubles. In a casual way HARE asked him if by any chance he would be willing to stay on [redacted] if his salary were supplemented. Subject took eagerly to this possibility, since it is well-known that Subject likes his job and desires very much to remain, but is resigning merely for financial reasons. In consultation with UNWYED and HARE, both of whom know Subject well, it is apparent that probably $300 monthly would allow Subject to decide to stay [redacted] provided we are sufficiently interested in recruiting him for intelligence activities.

3. Attached hereto is UNWYED's latest report on Subject, dated 8 December, and prepared prior to HARE's luncheon with Subject. There seems to be some question as to whether Subject has actually submitted his resignation to [redacted] in writing. According to UNWYED, he has, whereas Subject denied this to HARE. In any event, it is well known [redacted] that Subject is taking terminal leave at present, prior to leaving [redacted].

4. We now await your reaction as to whether you feel that in principle [redacted] is worth recruiting. It is too early, not having had specific and detailed talks with [redacted] to submit a project outline, but all here are agreed that the organization could benefit considerably by Subject's extensive contacts in all countries of Western Europe.

6 December, 1949

Subject: [redacted]

Subject is quitting his position [redacted] of 31 December, 1949. In August, 1949, subject advised his superiors, including [redacted] and a personal friend, that he could not continue unless a larger salary and a more liberal expense account were forthcoming. He was informed in due course by Vice President [redacted] that it was impossible for the company to give him more money within the present wage structure. Subject therefor decided to seek other employment. On or about 15 November subject was advised by Overseas Manager [redacted] that he could proceed to make new arrangements as of the end of the year. Whether subject actually resigned or was asked to terminate his connection due to his repeated demands for more money is not completely clear to the writer.

Overseas Manager [redacted] was never sympathetic with the subject. According to [redacted] was jealous of subject's popularity. On the other hand, [redacted] and subject's immediate superior, was, and continues to be, his strong supporter. On the basis of business produced [redacted] has told the writer that subject is the company's most valuable employe overseas. [redacted] concurs in that belief.

Subject is highly regarded by [redacted]. In addition he is a close friend of [redacted] Chairman of the Board, who engaged him directly in the first place. None of these, however, seem willing to run counter to the economy drive now in progress within [redacted] sponsored by new President [redacted] unless there is a last minute change in policy subject's termination will stand.

Subject's future is uncertain. He has been in touch with a friend of his in New York [redacted] makes frequent business trips to Europe on behalf of his own company which deals in spare parts [redacted]. He has intimated that he might use subject in Europe for six to eight months and then bring him back to the U.S. for employment in Washington. As of the above date [redacted] has made subject no definite offer but has advised him in a letter seen by the writer not to worry about his future.

1. On the basis of the information submitted in reference dispatch, we have initiated an investigation of subject, who appears to have, as you suggest, many facets worth exploiting. We expect this preliminary four-way check to take at least six weeks to complete and in the meantime would appreciate a further list of subject's contacts, sketched briefly at the bottom of page 8a of his personal record form. Since operational clearance is given only for a specific purpose, we also request UNMOVED's preliminary views on exploitation.

2. Subject personal record form (as well as that submitted with WPA-3500) is unusually complete, which greatly facilitates checking at this end. UNMOVED should be congratulated on his painstaking reporting in this matter.
